

Michigan Expectations Model - a professional & leadership development guide for success

We consider the skills, principles and behaviors identified in the Michigan Expectations Model to be essential for the success of all faculty and staff.

Our Mission:

The mission of the University of Michigan is to serve the people of Michigan and the world through preeminence in creating, communicating, preserving and applying knowledge, art, and academic values, and in developing leaders and citizens who will challenge the present and enrich the future.

Guiding Principles:

We are guided by the principles of excellence, stewardship, and partnership. We place a high priority on creating an environment that enables faculty and staff to do their best work and values the contributions of all employees in making Michigan a top public university. We strive to achieve exceptional results.

At the University of Michigan, we serve and work with a variety of diverse individuals and groups, which may include staff, faculty, learners, families, payers, vendors, agencies, research participants and more. Each faculty and staff member is expected to apply the skills, principles and behaviors of the Michigan Expectations Model and demonstrate personal leadership and responsibility. Given the diverse nature of our work at the University of Michigan, the Michigan Expectations Model is a framework that can be adapted for the unique needs of any unit, department or school. An individual's development path will vary depending on their current state of acquired skills, experience and breadth of responsibility.
